SEEKING TO SAVE MINNAUGH.

PARADE OF THE GREATEST.

Gov. Flower Will Be Asked to Commute His Sentence.

The wife of James E. Minnaugh, who is under sentence to die by electricity at Sing Sing during the week beginning next Monday, is making a determined effort to save him from the fatal chair.

Minnaugh shot and killed Edward Moran in Joseph DeWitt's saloon, at Second Avenue and Forty-fourth street, on the morning of Dec. 22, 1890. They had been great friends, but quarreled, it was said, because of a slighting remark Moran made about Minnaugh's wife.

Minnaugh was convicted of murder in the first degree on June 9, 1891. The jury was deadlocked for two hours, and in an attempt to reach a verdict, the foreman said he would have to leave the room to smoke a cigarette, presented and inhaled a killing.

Lawyer Joseph F. Moos, of Howe & Hummel's office, served a notice of appeal, and Minnaugh was given a reprieve of one month, while the Court of Appeals having decided against him, Recorder Smyth again signed the death warrant, and Minnaugh was taken to the Sing Sing.

Minaugh had been engaged in securing signatures to a petition for a commutation of his sentence, with affidavits that Minnaugh was drunk when he committed the crime, and had been for some time previous, to be presented to Gov. Flower.

If the Governor refuses to interfere Minnaugh will probably be killed next Monday.

GRAND CENTRAL'S NEW HOST.

Boniface Tilly Haynes, of Boston, will keep it July 1.

The Grand Central Hotel, which has been closed to guests since Jan. 1, has been leased to a company, of which Tilly Haynes, widely known host of Boston's United States Hotel, is the head. The house will be opened for business July 1. Seventy-five thousand dollars have been spent in repairs and refurbishing.

The Grand Central was a few years ago one of the handsomest hotels in New York. It has lost its former grandeur. It is owned by Eugene Higgins, the carpet manufacturer.
